PARAGUAY NOW FASCIST STATE

Decree Published Setting Up
Totalitarian Government
Following Revolution.

By The Associated Press
ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 12.—The provisional government of Paraguay, headed by Col. Rafael Franco, published a decree setting up the nation as a totalitarian state modeled after German National Socialism and Italian Fascism.

It marked the first appearance of a fascist regime in the Americas.

The decree decreed the state and the literate population for seven days or less to work longer than eight hours a day. It did not emanate explicitly from the state.

To "work" means:

The official statement of the liberating army, the principal source of authority of J. J. Caceres, the chief of revolution, implies the same sort of totalitarian transformation as it encompasses Europe in the sense the literate population in all the state are already one and identical.

The aims of the new government are the decree said will be the construction of a new strong Paraguay and constitutional roots in the future of the republic.

Refer to New Bulletin.

The decree declared:

1—The literate revolution of Feb. 17, 1936, is declared beneficial with the Republic of Paraguay.

The literate revolution of Feb. 17, 1936, is identified with the state will form to mobilize the state to the concourse of all citizens of the republic and integral realization of its permanent ends directly by organs of the state.

2—All activity of a political character organization of a party syndicate, located interests or interests which may be created of a political nature within the nation which is not emanate explicitly from the state or revolution are identified with the state are prohibited for a term of one year.

In Charge of Justice:

4—Under the jurisdiction of the minister of interior are placed all questions of militia or no less than the date as identified with the literate revolution comprising relations of conflicts between labor and capital and necessities of workers and interests in equality with those of employers.

5—A committee of civil mobilization is created to effect fulfillment of article 11.

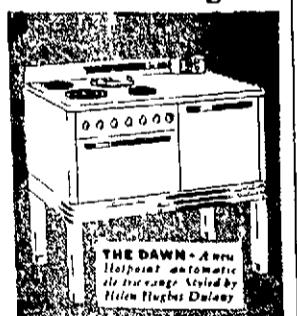

6—A national labor department is created under effects of article IV.

—The minister of interior is entrusted with Constitution regulation and handling of the ordinances expressed in article VI.

SECRETARY PERKINS CITES GAIN IN JOBS

Says Employment Has Gained 31 Per Cent Since 1933 and Payrolls 61 Per Cent.

By the Associated Press BROOKLYN, N. Y., March 12—Secretary Perkins told the CIO club yesterday that industrial employment mounted 31 percent between April, 1933, and December, 1935.

At the same time, she said, industrial payrolls had increased 61 per cent.

The labor department chief compared these figures with a 33 percent drop in employment from April, 1930, to April, 1933, and a decline of 53 per cent in payrolls during that same period.

"The figures cited do not represent all the gains in private industry in which approximately 5,000,000 men and women have been returned to jobs since the low point of the depression," she said.

Farmers, merchants, manufacturers and investors have also experienced real improvement in their affairs.

"With the heavy industries showing an increase in employment which began last summer we should be able to look forward to further gains."

FIRST LADY VISITS OHIO WPA PROJECTS

Former Marion Y Official Now Writer of Odd Tales

William J. Lavender, physical director of the Y.M.C.A. in 1901, is now owner of Lavender's Public House in Rock Island Ill. It was disclosed in a communication received by Marion friends.

Mr. Lavender publishes Hoosier Rhymes and Colorado Legends, Seven Tales of a Bold Paul Bunyan, our Tales from Tales Cock Tales and others according to a letter he sent.

Included in the letter was a clipping from the Rock Island Argus recounting a snake story written by Mr. Lavender after another Rock Island man, L. L. West had been stung a number of the 11 times of a rattlesnake. Mr. West, by virtue of a snake story he had submitted to the club.

Story of Black Joe

The story written by Mr. Lavender who has become a writer of humorous tales is reprinted as follows:

I think Mr. West misrepresented his pet rattlesnake. Mr. Lavender jocosely said everybody knows it is only a bull snake that milks cows. Takes three quarts of milk at one sitting and looks anything like a telephone pole.

However, I don't intend to try to take the rattles off of Mr. West's snake story, but want to present a real snake story. It is a tale about the brother of Louie Snake because this snake was found out in Kansas near the shack where his brother was captured. We named it Black Joe after some L. L. West chewing gum because of its stretching propensity. The name was too much for it and it died.

We laid Black Joe on a stretch er and started for the cemetery where his brother is buried. While enroute however the head of Black Joe fell to the ground. We held the rattles of the snake to a representative of Santa Claus who said there was enough of them to make rattles for all the babies we would visit this Christmas. The tail of the snake kept stretching as we journeyed toward the cemetery. The cemetery wasn't big enough to hold the remains of Black Joe so we made a long s.o.s. shot it, we buried the snake as it lay and sold it to the Milky Way Piping Co. which used old Joe to pipe milk to the city. The company opened filling stations along the way tapped poor old Joe and sold the contents for milk shakes.

Act as Churn

But when warm weather came and the milk soured so the com pany sold it for butter milk.

As the milk went through old Joe fast the tail acted as ruffles and sharpened it into butter.

When stopped at the state line the but ter milk backed up and solidified.

The company finally abandoned

the line and sold old Joe to a section and sold him for cheeses. I can't take you out and show you the place like Lou West can because the late dust storms have filled up the trench.

But to you, the a thumbnail of my tale the fragments of poor old Joe keep prouting up each spring and when it's off the milk will run out. They are all along the trench line and the farmers sell them milk weeds and the flat ground gumbo.

Bowers said that plans were changed because of "unexpected reaction favorable to Borah among labor and farmers."

Candidates endorsed were Aaron Davis and Z. E. Keough for delegates and John Petrall and E. C. Shafer, all of Richland county, as alternates.

Oh, Pshaw!

The text of Earl Browder's radio address last week explaining the Communist party's position in the campaign has been examined closely by every person trying to keep abreast of political trends. They have found it disappointing.

The cold truth is that Mr. Browder, secretary of the Communist party in the United States had nothing to say. He called for no reform which new deal spokesman haven't called for more loudly and more convincingly. He proposed formation of a Farmer-Labor party to carry out the Communist party's purpose but was careful to explain that the new party wouldn't take up socialism or revolution.

As remedies for everything that is wrong with the country Mr. Browder offered nothing but the destruction of Wall Street and the House of Morgan—old stuff warmed over from countless farm belt speeches. He promised every man a job under a system of socialism and a wage running from a minimum of $2,000 a year to $12,000 but even that isn't as appealing as the Townsend plan. Furthermore he had said previously that the Farmer-Labor party wouldn't take up socialism seriously at this time.

In short Secretary Browder offers the moon but doesn't seem to have any concrete capable of covering the distance. Isn't even willing to undertake the project as an outright communal but wants to borrow the label of the Farmer-Labor party. He not only fails to be convincing, but isn't even exciting. The only apparent reason he shouldn't have been permitted to use the radio for his appeal is the fact that he didn't have anything to say but if that were a sufficient reason to enforce silence there would be precious few political speeches on the air.

Never Fails.

Mankind's vital interest in time and money is a way of recording it never fails to start into an argument when time is at stake by a clash of opinions. The city of Chicago and the area surrounding it are the scene of the largest conflagration at the moment.

Certain politicians thought it would be fine to transfer the city permanently from the central standard time zone into the eastern time zone, a subterfuge which Chicago has employed during the summer months for many years. Reform the objectors could get their mouths open the thing had been done.

Evidently the politicians have grabbed a bear by the tail. It is plain that a great many Chicagoans are angry enough to do almost anything—even to go to the polls and vote. Of course when summer comes everything will be all right but it isn't summer now and it won't be summer when it's time to vote next November. Getting up in the dark is disagreeable business.

Why was the bonfire started in the first place? The answer doesn't make sense but it's the only one. Certain interests would like very much to synchronize Chicago radio stations with eastern stations during at least part of the year. Maybe the whole mess could be traced back to some politician's little boy who couldn't get his radio schedule arranged. Smaller things than that have made bigger wars than the one which has Chicago snapping and snarling.

Going Home Late.

Congressional leaders continue to talk as though they expect to be ready to leave Washington by the first of May. As they outline the prospect for early adjournment on paper the whole thing looks like an open and shut proposition. Why then, do the wise boys who claim to know more about what congress will do than congress itself know insist that it will be June before senators and representatives are reunited with their loved ones including their constituents?

It seems simple enough from both sides. Obviously congress could adjourn by the end of April. There's nothing to prevent it, nothing that is except the things which clutter up all leave-taking. Congress is composed of human beings and when was there ever a human being able to make an exit without lingering? It's human nature to fiddle and fumble at the moment of parting. There's no more mystery about congressmen going home late than there is about the table of bridge which breaks up at 12:30 because the losing side wanted to play just one more rubber.

Congress expects to adjourn May 1. There's no reason why congress should stay in session past May 1. In other words, the congressional session will end about the first of June, which will give representatives and senators a month to get through the front door after deciding that it really is time to go home."

Bold or Clumsy?

As the smoke of the Ishlman explosion begins to clear one thing seems to be established solidly in all opinions. Adolf Hitler has crowded France into a corner from which an escape must be made. Germany has made an amiable settlement impossible.

It may be argued with sound reason by those who are not prejudiced against Germany that France previously had cornered Germany the same way and that Chancellor Hitler merely has turned the tables. But cause being beyond a pair is less important in the present European crisis than effect. How can war be postponed since obviously Europe is in a panic of averting it?

Germany holding the torn French side two treaties it did not like can be assured by making new treaties acceptable to the third which it really has acquired equally, if not more, among other European powers. Hence to make new treaties acceptable to Hitler & Germany it would be necessary for other governments to grant concessions which they would not dare to grant France for instance would have to abandon its mutual assistance pact with Poland.

The alternative to acceptance of impossible terms is to resist them. In this case resistance would mean either economic or military warfare. War against Germany in either case the ultimate result would be the run—an exhausting struggle for supremacy which means the privilege of imposing impossible conditions on the loser and hurling thereby another European war in the future.

German diplomats are notoriously lacking in theme. It is a question of much more than incidental interest therefore as to whether they intended to force France into a corner where it had to fight or lose face or whether the tradition of clumsy diplomacy once more has placed the curse on the German population. If there were some way to assure a larger volume of work than lower rates per hour would be theoretically the best rates. Put it in the cards for political government to suggest reduction in hourly rates. Consequently the planning, turn-around ways and means of building factories houses in which the amount of labor used is relatively little or by substituting the construction of slum clearance projects or low cost individual homes in scattered parts of a given city.

There were some way to assure a larger volume of work than lower rates per hour would be theoretically the best rates.

Battle of the Books. Every person who reads James P. Warburg's Hell Bent For Election shudders to think of the possibilities of its use in the presidential campaign. Mr. Warburg, one of several economic advisers who deserted from the Roosevelt administration, has done a powerful piece of exposition. Relatively little of it is his personal opinion, most of it is quotations from Mr. Roosevelt, from the Democratic platform of 1932 and the Social Security form of the same year.

It was to be expected that the Republican party would make the most of the book and it is not surprising therefore to find that the Republicans national committee has purchased many thousands of copies. The campaign apparently is to be a battle of books. Other titles suggesting themselves from a list of current releases are Why Keep Them Alive?—The Last Puritan—The Long Walk—Why Democracy?—Freedom Farewell—The Battleground—The Way Of A Transgressor?—Not Too Narrow Not Too Deep. An appropriate present for all candidates would be a copy of How To Become Popular In Ten Easy Lessons.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, March 12, 1926.

County Prosecutor L. E. Harvey summoned Jacob Nesbit, husband of the Troy O' murder victim, to his office for questioning.

Germany was reported near victory in a dispute over whether it should be granted a place in the League of Nations.

Favorable action was expected to be taken by all powers signatory to the Locarno pact.

A Washington dispatch reported that figures announced by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon indicated there would be a substantial federal fund balance at the close of 1927.

James S. Madden, 34, of Columbus was found guilty of participation in holdup of two C. D. & M. messengers here on Jan. 11. This completed trials following the robbery with all four accused men convicted.

J. Wesley, then 72, died at his home in California.

The Marion I. M. C. A. volleyball team won the northwestern Ohio district tournament in Findlay and was headed for the state tournament.

Making the trip to Findlay were R. B. Hume, Ernest Goffert, Robert Stief, T. W. McDonald, Gus Hulse, L. K. Powell, Roy Rice, L. C. Stang, Russell Sharp, B. B. Hill and John H. Clark.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, March 12, 1916.

Thirty seven persons were enrolled as members of Epworth M. E. church in services conducted by the pastor Dr. Leslie Swank.

Four hundred men attended a special mission service at St. Mary Catholic church conducted by Father Vincent Gilders.

Anthony J. Gilligan, Civil war veteran died at his home on Barnhart street.

Patty Weller was elected manager of Hogan's Runtz baseball team for the coming season and the players voted to change the name to the Marion Basball club.

Rededication services were held at the North Baptist church with the dedicatory sermon given by Rev. Dickeyson of Radnor. The church had been remodeled after it was damaged by fire during the Christmas holiday season.

It seems simple enough from both sides. Obviously congress could adjourn by the end of April. There's nothing to prevent it, nothing that is except the things which clutter up all leave-taking. Congress is composed of human beings and when was there ever a human being able to make an exit without lingering? It's human nature to fiddle and fumble at the moment of parting. 1931, the time of the murder.

She said she heard someone run west on the sidewalk on the north side of Herman street immediately after the shots were fired.

The state had contended Watkins and Grover Braden, an alleged accomplice, ran north after firing the fatal shot.

After the defense rested its case, Prosecutor Michel called one witness, Police Capt. Orr DeWees, to the stand for rebuttal before the morning session was adjourned.

Capt. DeWees who conducted the investigation that led to the arrest of Watkins and Braden as suspects in the Bennett murder last Oct. 28, testified the bullet examined by Cowles the expert was not the one that killed James Franklin Bennett. He said he was present at the Boyd funeral home when the fatal bullet was found in Bennett's clothing and took the bullet to the police station.

He said the fatal bullet was definitely marked being flattened somewhat on the nose where the bullet core examined was unmarred. The bullet examined by Cowles was introduced as a defense exhibit and DeWees held it in his hand as he declared it was not the shot that killed Bennett.

Yesterday's Proceedings

Testimony of two women who said Watkins had told them he killed Bennett and conflicting police testimony regarding the sending of the fatal bullet to a ballistic expert in Cleveland for examination featured yesterday afternoon's session.

The women who quoted Watkins were among three persons called to the stand in the afternoon session to finish the state's presentation of testimony. The three final witnesses for the state were John Millson of Park street, Mrs. Grace Arcury of North Main street and Mrs. Louise Corwell of 160 East Center street.

Mrs. Arcury said Watkins while intoxicated told her nearly four years ago that he had killed James Franklin Bennett in an attempted holdup and had been found in an exchange of shots with the plain man. She said he pulled up one trouser leg and showed her the bullet wound Bennett had in flicted. She said she didn't pay much attention to what Watkins said because he had been drinking.

On cross examination she said her husband had been a boot legger and that he and herself had sold drinks to Watkins.

Mrs. Arcury testified Watkins told her he did not intend to kill Bennett and fired only after the victim had shot at him.

Mrs. Corwell said she was Watkins' landlady at the time of the murder on Dec. 12, 1931, and that he came home between 3:30 and 4 a.m. on that day. The time of the murder has been placed between midnight and 2 a.m. that day. She said he poured mercuriochrome on his wounded leg.

At first she continued he told her he had been injured but later when he had been drinking and was angry, he told her he had shot Bennett and that Bennett had wounded him.

The testimony of these witnesses finished the state's case.

Defense Testimony Starts

Defense attorney's immediately called three witnesses who testified Cyre Bennett, 83-year-old brother of the murder victim, had told them shortly after the fatal shooting, that he fired a shot at his brother in the climax of a quarrel over division of household expenses. These witnesses were Robert W. Hedges court reporter Ira Shrock former police captain and Russell M. Wilhem former prosecuting attorney. They were unanimous in testimony that Mr.
Hedges took shorthand notes for a statement and in the statement Cyre admitted firing a shot at his brother on the orders of the murder. They said he refused to sign either the shorthand notes or the typewritten transcription which was introduced as an exhibit. Bennett earlier in the trial had testified he never told police he fired a shot at his brother.

Throughout his cross-examination of these and other defense witnesses in the afternoon session Prosecutor Michel pressed his contention that police confused the fatal bullet with others they had fired from a revolver owned by Bennett and as a result the wrong bullet was sent to a Cleveland ballistic expert for examination. He also brought out some testimony showing Cyre Bennett was in weakened physical condition at the time the purported statement was taken from him by police. Former Prosecutor Will helm however said questions did

Mrs. Thurn Lists Recipes Suitable for Luncheons

Dear Friends in Marion: Here are some recipes that I thought you would be interested in. They are particularly well adapted to luncheons.

Meat and Potato Muffins

Two cups cooked, chopped, meat; one cup cooked potato; one slice onion, chopped; two cups cooked vegetable; gravy or milk; one tea-spoon seasonings as desired.

Grated potato and onion too large. Loosen each "muffin" with a sharp knife, invert on a hot serving platter. Cover each with a spoonful of gravy or tomato sauce.

Fried Meat Rolls

Two cups raised dough (bread or rolls dough); one cup, chopped, seasoned left over meat. Two tablespoons gravy or broth; one tea-spoon catsup.

Divide dough after second kneading into six portions. Roll out thin on a floured board. Place a spoonful of moistened meat in the center; fold edges in and roll in the hand to make a small bun. Place in greased muffin pans. Cover and let rise until double in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., until firm and brown. Serve hot with gravy and a garnish of parsley.

The baking powder biscuit dough if you prefer; make very small rolls, baked side by side in a flat pan, and serve them with soup.

Peach Butterscotch Crisp Dessert

One cup brown sugar; one cup flour; one fourth teaspoon cinnamon; one eighth teaspoon nutmeg; one half cup shortening; two cups chopped canned or fresh peaches.

Mix the dry ingredients together and cut in the shortening until all is the consistency of coarse granulated sugar. Rub a baking dish with fat and cover with peaches. Spread the crumb mixture over the fruit. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 10 minutes, then reduce heat and bake until the fruit is soft and the crumbs are browned. Cut in squares and serve hot or cold with whipped cream or plain cream or a custard sauce.

Rice Conde

One half cup washed rice; two half cups milk; two eggs; one half cup sugar; one half teaspoon grated vanilla; one half teaspoon grated orange or lemon rind; one fourth teaspoon salt.

Soak the milk in a double boiler; add rice; cover and cook stirring only occasionally, during the first fifteen minutes, then not again until the rice is tender and quite dry. (About three quarters of an hour). Beat eggs, add remaining ingredients. Using a fork, stir egg mixture into the hot rice gently so as not to make the rice pasty. Remove from the fire and pour rice into lightly buttered bowl or mold and keep hot until serving time. Unmold and surround with thin fruit sauce; one small can apricots; two bananas, sliced; one half cup sugar. Cook apricots and sauce from the can with the sugar, slowly until apricots are almost soft; add the sliced bananas for last few minutes of cooking. Serve hot.

A MEAT AND VEGETABLE PIE WITH BISCUIT TOP

A whole meal in itself, is this delicious new meat and vegetable pie with biscuits baked on top. Try it for tonight's supper. Recipe given below.

Four thick pork chops; two or three sour apples; four medium sweet potatoes; two onions; four fourth cup water; salt and pepper.

Wipe the chops with a damp cloth and place them in the bottom of a deep casserole; peel and quarter the apples, arrange over the chops; sprinkle with salt and pepper; pare and slice potatoes; one half inch thick; pare onions and slice thin; lay over apples. Season with salt and pepper. Pour in only enough water to steam the potatoes.

Too much will make the dish juicy. Bake covered for about one hour; then uncover and lay baking powder biscuits closely together, to cover the dish. Continue baking until the biscuits are baked and delicately browned. Serve from the dish.

Make biscuits of one cup flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one fourth teaspoon salt; two tablespoons shortening; one half cup milk. Cut with very small cutter.

CHAPTER SIX

Straight Talk

AUNT ELLA: Where's the key

In the bottom brown trunk —oh!" Iris' silvery-eyed page-head popped in at the dining-room door and withdrew herself; Iris' voice, stiff as a young duchess, said through the crack, "Good morning, Mr. Phark. Sorry I interrupted," and was gone.

He ran her to earth sweeping out the studio in her clean faded pink-marked linen smock. It was Iris' Aunt Ella's pink dress, and pretty, she was told, and over-worked Uncle William. Morgan had the smile in her eyes again and, smiling, sacrifice to her dead father, who was a minister and, unfortunately, a misunderstood genius."

"Is there something I can do for you?" she asked. Her mock-muse voice all but made the sentence end "and my lord."

"Yes," said Morgan with more spirit than originally. "I'm going to stay here we have to come to an understanding. Do you want me to get out?" If you do, all right, say so, instead of high-hatting me this way."

"Have I failed in proper civilities and attentions?"

Iris all but shook her head, hands folded on her broom, lashes over the eyes; she was a girl who actually would admit herself in the wrong.

Morgan and Iris slid into a workable relation as the days and weeks went on. They fought a little, but not before she had time to say impulsively, "I'm sorry, I'll be nice," leaving him aghast at a girl who actually would admit herself in the wrong.

"Oh, you'll get it if you want it badly enough," he said acidly.

And then Iris called Iris, but not before she had time to say impulsively, "I'm sorry, I'll be nice," leaving him aghast at a girl who actually would admit herself in the wrong.

Morgan and Iris slid into a workable relation as the days and weeks went on. They fought a little, but not before she had time to say impulsively, "I'm sorry, I'll be nice," leaving him aghast at a girl who actually would admit herself in the wrong.

"I'm sorry, I haven't been polite. But I can't like you the way they do. Poor old Uncle William, that should have had ten sons, saying if he'd had one he'd have liked him like you—Aunt Ella with her petite soins."

"It wasn't temper—I meant it. I'm sorry—I haven't been polite.

But I can't like you the way they do. Poor old Uncle William, that should have had ten sons, saying if he'd had one he'd have liked him like you—Aunt Ella with her petite soins."

He found himself noting that she had an excellent French accent.

Was there anything this young creature in the sticks didn't have?

He answered none the less sternly. "You're jealous."

"I'm not. But they're too good for common sense. I'm always afraid—she was confiding in him again unconsciously—"I'll get like that."

"Don't worry," said Morgan sardonically.

"I don't know—I'm awfully full of feelings," she said naively. "And Uncle Will's had me all my life, with his splendid aggravating useless code hammered at me! Give all for an ideal. Be proud of what you are, not what you have. Remember neither ancestors, breeding nor possessions count beside what you yourself are. And look at him! A poor old drudging law-

"It's fine, though. I haven't seen too much of it!"

"No, you've evidently lived with the successful," said Iris, beginning to dust the mantel.

"Well, why don't you try them yourself?"

"Perhaps," she said, dreamily, "some day I'll have the chance."

Mrs. George Thurman

"Do you want me to get out?" asked Morgan, dropped, feet together—the perfect pose.

"Yes, you have. Stop taking it out on me because you talked out a bad-tempered mood. I know what they are. I have them myself."

He straightened his tall back and laughed a little shamefacedly.

"I don't know. I like doing things for Uncle Will." He had come to tell him that. "Look here, let me give you the check I got for this. It's Uncle Will's money, so you can't be an insulted duchess over it."

"It wouldn't be honorable."

My sales jump when I travel on CONCRETE

"...and my car operating costs drop. I cover my territory quicker with less wear and tear on nerves and car. I save energy for selling. I see more prospects and sell more goods!"

Business of all kinds needs concrete roads. They appeal to taxpayers, because they cost less to build than any other roads of equal load carrying capacity. Surface maintenance costs are $114 to $469 less per mile per year than for other types. It pays to demand concrete for every road carrying 100 vehicles or more per day.

OHIO ASSEMBLY ILL ADJOURN

Site Faves Way by Turning Adjourn Back and Recess
for "Five Minutes."

By The Associated Press
Marion, March 12.—The way of adjournment of the special session of the state apparently was set yesterday when the senate adjourned session, turned back and recessed for three bills.
The bills signed yesterday were in the fight with the Senate adjourned session, the senate adjourned a resolution to return the bill to the House on March 26, but by its action that resolution was stricken from the record. The Senate adjourned in conformity with the resolution adopted Feb.
25, which said: "Adjourn sine die
for five minutes."

The Senate welfare committee met yesterday afternoon and voted three times on the Boyd-Hunter unemployment insurance bill but failed to recommend it for passage.

CALEDONIA GROUP ATTENDS SERVICE

Takes Part in Wesley M. E. Revival Meeting.

A delegation from the Caledonia Memorial M. E. church and the pastor, Rev. George Hickson, and members of the Woman's Bible class, occupied special sections of Wesley M. E. church at last night's revival service. The pastor, Rev.
Stanley W. Want, preached on "Sifting." A special solo was contributed by Howard Orr.

Members of the Epworth League and the Daughters of Ruth class will attend the service in a body Friday night. An effort also will be made to have as many adults as possible attend.

"The Christians were caught napping at the outbreak of the World War, and ever since that time Christianity has been on the decline," Rev. Want said. The Christians of today would not enter a war as enthusiastically now as they did in 1917 he pointed out. The giving up of Sunday evening services for the movies, and the fact that many churches do not hold prayer and revival meetings were cited as signs that the Christian churches have slipped in their stand on religion.

PAIR CAUGHT HERE TAKEN TO CHICAGO

Men in Wells Attack Face With Murder Charge.

Sergeants Francis J. O'Neill and Otto E. Manning of the Chicago police department left Marion this morning with two Negroes wanted in that city on robbery and possibly murder charges.
The pair taken back, Frank Herman, 28, and Charles Wells, ago after they allegedly attacked

John Deeds, Walde filling station proprietor.

The two men were identified by and Manning arrived here late yesterday and left early this morning with their prisoners.

They said both Herman and Wells were wanted in their city for a "strong arm" robbery last Feb.

link Herman, and possibly Wells, with the murder of an insurance man in a holdup some time ago.

Harding Prepares for Semi-Final Tournament Game

PRESIDENTS TO MEET
COLUMBUS CENTRAL
AT DELAWARE FRIDAY

District Finals To Be Played
Following Night in Ohio
Wesleyan Gym.

Fully aware they are facing a strong foe but confident of their ability to win Harding High Presidents were today making final plans to meet the Columbus Central team in a semi-final game of the Class A District tournament at Delaware tomorrow night.

The Presidents will meet the district defending champions in the first or the semi-final matches at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Newark and the strong Columbus East team are to play the other semi-final an hour later. The winning teams will earn the right to compete for the tournament honors and the privilege of representing the district at the state tournament in Columbus. The losing squads will meet in a consolation game at 8 o'clock Saturday night with the final game immediately following.

Other Class A and B tournaments in the district will be heading for the last roundup this Friday and Saturday. Harding High is the only Marion county quintet still in the running, but several teams from this district remain to battle through final games of various tournaments.

Practice Session Held

The Harding High team waded through opening rounds last week by defeating Delaware in the opening game, 40 to 26, and eliminating Grandview High in the second round by a 38-27 score. In the meantime Central High stopped Mt. Vernon, 32 to 25, and trounced Columbus West, 26 to 16.

Coach Dewey N. Boyler's quintet, according to present indications, will be intact for the crucial game. The squad went through regular practice sessions this week and all the men are shipshape and eagerly awaiting the start of Friday night's conflict.

A host of Marion fans plan to follow the Presidents to Delaware for Friday night's game. More than usual interest has been aroused by the quintet's splendid showing in the Delaware tourney and a crowd of enthusiastic Marion fans have been present at each encounter.

The Class A sectional tourney at Bucyrus-St. Mary will begin tonight with St. Mary, O., High school matched with Upper Sandusky and succeeding rounds to be played Friday and Saturday. Four preliminary rounds are to be played Friday afternoon, with the first game between Bucyrus and Galion at 4 o'clock. An hour later Kent will meet Wapakoneta. Evening games will begin at 7:30 o'clock when Lima South is paired with Findlay. The final game Friday brings Lima

Patty Berg Box Office Ace Of Women Golfers

A RED-HEADED tomboy who has been playing golf just three years and has reached the ripe old age of 17 is the biggest box-office attraction in women's golf today.

Patty Berg, freckle-faced Minneapolis gal, who astounded the links world last summer by reaching the finals of the national championship, is the reigning sensation of the Florida winter golf season, with a couple of spectacular victories over formidable fields to her credit.

It was in the 1933 Miami-Biloxie more tourney that Patty first showed signs of approaching stardom, though she was eliminated before reaching the finals.

The stocky red headed youngster is a natural athlete—a real tomboy who would rather be half-back on her high school football team than a champion golfer. However, there is nothing hard-bolted about her, and her athletic prowess hasn't caused her to lose her feminine appeal.

Her present ambition is to play on the United States Curtis Cup team in Great Britain this spring, and rating her off her Florida form there isn't a chance that they can keep her off the team.

Like Lawton Little, of whom she is a feminine counterpart, Patty is a great match-play golfer—a born competitor with plenty of "fighting heart."

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Jim Bucher, the former second baseman, may hold down third base for the Dodgers this season instead of the holdout Joe Stripp, Freddy Lindstrom or Brooklyn's Frank Skaff. A heavy hitter despite his lack of weight, Bucher also did some flashy third basing in yesterday's practice game.

PENACOLA, Fla.—Dick Bartell, who claims his hitting slump last year was the result of trying to use a set of bats that didn't follow the proper specifications, appears to be proving his point. In the Giants' intra-camp game yesterday he smacked a double and two singles and drew a pair of his other home runs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Pat Malone, Yankee veteran, is making a great effort this spring to repay Manager Joe McCarthy for carrying him through last season. He takes the mound every time he gets a chance, runs around the park, does individual warming up exercises and takes part in paper games. His pitching this spring has reflected the extra effort to get into condition.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The world champion Detroit Tigers have been given an extra incentive to repeat in the American League this year with the offer by owner Walter O. Briggs of a bonus—one of the biggest ever paid a baseball club—for a pennant.

NEW ORLEANS—Suffering from rainy weather, the Indiana hoped to get in one long work-out today before going to Pensacola, Fla., for a series with the Giants. Manager Steve O'Neill kept in the stands on an injured knee, sent his team through a two-hour drill yesterday but a downpour made further work impossible.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees admits he would like to buy the Brans brothers but he doesn't want to be guilty of making an offer to buy holdout players. For this reason he won't visit Bradenton to discuss the situation. "But," he adds, "just let them just as much as whisper that either Sean or both are for sale."

MARASOTA, Fla.—Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox likes the looks of his club. "It seems to be in fine physical condition and that starts right with Manager Cronin," he commented after watching Jimmie Foxx clout a few yesterday.

PORT MYERS, Fla.—Connie Mack liked the work of Bill Dietrich against the St. Louis Cards in a grapefruit league game yesterday. Dietrich held the Cards batters in four innings, only 12 batters facing him. Bob Johnson and George Puccinelli were hot at bat.

Moore, in his spare time, hires himself out as a parachute tester.

A "parachute tester" is one who tries out a chute which some manufacturer hopes has been made right, but which he thinks ought to be tried out before he offers it for sale.

Moore thinks its all good, clean fun, and besides picking up a few extra dollars for himself, he gets a kick out of jumping off a speeding plane a few thousand feet up. Pulling the rip-cord and then wondering whether the thing will work.

Since a "chute tester" lives only as long as the parachutes with which he experiments, the test, Moore, of course, is batting 1,000.

The late Nat Goodwin had an unenviable reputation among his fellow actors for—well, shall we call it extreme parsimony? One day he approached a table in the Lamps club, New York, at which two other historians were seated, and remarked that he was thinking of writing his autobiography.

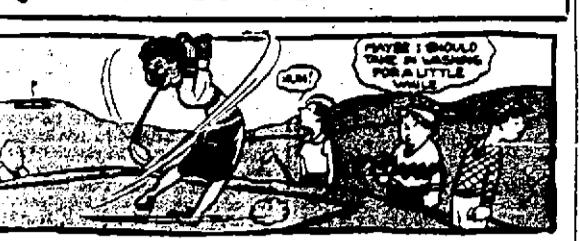

"With the accent on the 'buy,'" asked one of the actors meaningly.

"No," put in the other quickly,

"with the accent on the 'ought to.'"

WASH WOMAN OPEN GOLF QUEEN OF PHILIPPINES

Taking time off from her floor-scrubbing and clothes-washing at the Calamba Sugar estate, where she has the title of house-girl, she won the medal with 87 and the trophy with a neat 87 for 72 holes.

Tournaments don't perturb the golfing mental. After shooting 87 to win the medal on a Sunday morning, she went to Canlibang in the afternoon and played third base for a baseball team. She then returned to the Manila Golf Club on Monday and swept on to the golf title.

ROBERT MYERS, Associated Press Sports Writer, PASADENA, Calif., March 11—Jimmy Dykes isn't kidding himself or Chicago fans into believing the White Sox will win the American League pennant this year.

"But give us a fair break," he predicted, "and we're liable to speak right in and wind up in the first division."

"It'll be tough going, because you take Boston, Detroit, Cleveland and New York—understand. I'm not picking them to finish in that order—if they get to battling around the top, someone is going to get knocked down, and—

"We might sneak in ourselves. It can be done."

He is pleased with progress of spring training here, and if he has more than a reasonable amount of confidence in any department it's the pitching staff.

Although a little too early to get a definite line on the rest of the club, it's certain Dykes will continue to manage affairs from his regular third base position.

First base seems a problem, with Zeke Bonura absent pending salary adjustment. Yet Dykes said Bonura's presence now or later is not of "grave importance."

"The mule," said Dykes, referring to George "Mule" Haas, "looks pretty good at first."

Luke Appling, who was one of the club's leading hitters with a .307 last year, will be back at short. Tony Piet has been handling second in the absence of Minter Hayes, another holdout.

Two of the three catchers' jobs are open. Luke Sewell has the first. Frank Grube, Merrin Shea and Harold Ruel are after the other two.

Operated either by hand or by an electric dry or rotary motor, has been used for years for pizza through floors made of almost any material used for buildings.

Air mail services are being expanded throughout Central China and highway railway and telephone construction increased.

LIFE IS NOT DULL FOR 'CHUTE TESTER

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

CINCINNATI, O.—Some people like to wrestle with rattlesnakes, others seek relaxation and amusement by clipping along a slippery road at night at 80 miles an hour in a car with faulty brakes—but Leonard Moore, Cincinnati truck driver, gets his thrills by leaping off into space from an altitude of about 2,000 feet and then hoping his hands without too much of a bump.

Moore thinks its all good, clean fun, and besides picking up a few extra dollars for himself, he gets a kick out of jumping off a speeding plane a few thousand feet up. Pulling the rip-cord and then wondering whether the thing will work.

Since a "chute tester" lives only as long as the parachutes with which he experiments, the test, Moore, of course, is batting 1,000.

ASSASSINATION PLOT IS FUTILE IN SPAIN

20 Shots Fired at Socialist Deputy but He Rushes into House and is Uninjured.

By the Associated Press

MADRID, March 12.—A daring attempt to assassinate the noted Socialist deputy Prof. Luis Jimenez Asua, today as Spain's under-current of political and anti-religious disorders grew more menacing.

The attack on Jimenez, as he left his home this morning was believed to be in reprisal for the death of a Fascist student yesterday and the wounding of two others.

A group of four or five men opened fire on the professor from an automobile as he was departing from his home to go to his law classes at the Madrid university.

A policeman escorting the professor was hit and wounded slightly as Jimenez rushed back into his house uninjured despite the 20 shots which rained about him and his servant.

The assailants ran off without getting being able to overtake it.

HINDRANCES TO RELIGION LISTED

Subject of Rev. C. J. Hoops' Revival Sermon

Rev. Carl V. Hoops preached on hindrances to church work in a revival sermon last night at the First United Brethren church.

He gave some of these reasons in contrast with today's verse as Joshua and Israel did in their time, he said. Some of the hindrances he named are as follows:

Folly, failing that poisons the mind, defects from character, weakens wills and damages the soul; a group that moves like a destroying angel leaving in its wake moral death; spiritual blight and coldness; war, sorrow and trouble; quarrels that cause division; religious enmity that puts out the fire of religious fervor and hedge the way for church advancement; indifference to responsibility; failure to moral obligations to influence that should be exerted for good and to the claims upon the soul that bring a guilty conscience; depletion of effective Christian service put out the fire of inspiration and chill evangelism to death.

The Sunday school and Women's Missionary Association will attend tonight's service. The orchestra and choir will furnish music. Friday night will be family night. The church's Girl Scout troupe will attend.

Morrow County Syrup Producers Report Sap Lags

Special to The Star
MT. GILEAD, March 12.—Maple syrup industry in Morrow county suffered by injury last week ago to be heavier than at any time in several years.

It has yet produced the usual maple syrup usually made although the same condition which brought lessened production are prevalent in other counties and Morrow county still is the only one in production in the state.

Scores of camps have been opened in the last two weeks and operators are now saying that the extremely early large rain falls was not followed by other rains. Frost is still in the ground and one operator said that he has been able to produce only 20 gallons where last year he had 200 after being open the same length of time.

Morrow county producers believe that any other county in central Ohio and the region is shipped to all parts of the country ever going to foreign markets.

Mary campers have passed out existence in the last few years. Operators cut down the trees bringing in quick revenue. The result however continues to go down from 50 to 700 gallons annually.

AKRON MINISTER CONDUCTS SERVICE

Gives First Evangelistic Service at Oakland Church

Rev. G. A. Clymer of Akron delivered his first evangelistic sermon at the Oakland First United Methodist church last night to 110 people daily from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m.

His sermon last night was followed by a community service.

The downfall of any community nation in fact the lack of prayer. As Christians we need to pray daily for God and for a festival. We are in touch with the immortal high God and He is with us.

Clymer said that he shall receive an answer to his prayer. Jesus said Men ought always to pray and not to faint. We need to follow the Master Teacher in our prayer life.

The choir sang a selection and there was congregational singing led by T. W. Lemley.

Tonight Rev. Clymer will preach on "The Purse of Prayer."
